

All the file work is done in FileManagement. I have classes for all symbols. To add a new symbol all we have to do is adding a new class to our existing game and implement characters. We need to define their search order. That's it. Player class does all the necessary work for users. Wildcard is a little different so I had to add an extra function for that.